Overview

Owners rate the Gabit ring well when it's connected. In Jul–Aug 2026, about a third of Play Store reviews were 1★ or 2★, mostly about the ring not syncing. No review has mentioned sync since 18 Aug; from outside, I can't tell whether that's a fix or just fewer reviews.

Monthly numbers are small (10–29 reviews). March also spiked, mostly about the app being slow or unstable.

What the reviews show

Sync complaints by month, 2026

1★–2★ reviews that mention the ring not syncing or connecting.

The last review mentioning sync was on 18 Aug. The latest app update (22 Sep) lists bug fixes and performance improvements.

"It takes multiple attempts to sync between the ring and app and of late it has just stopped syncing."

★☆☆☆☆ Gabit user · 2026-07-30

"every time I have to logout login or else have to call Customer Support executive"

★☆☆☆☆ Gabit user · 2026-07-30

"The app has become super slow in connecting to the ring and it takes almost over 5 mins to start any activity after connecting the ring."

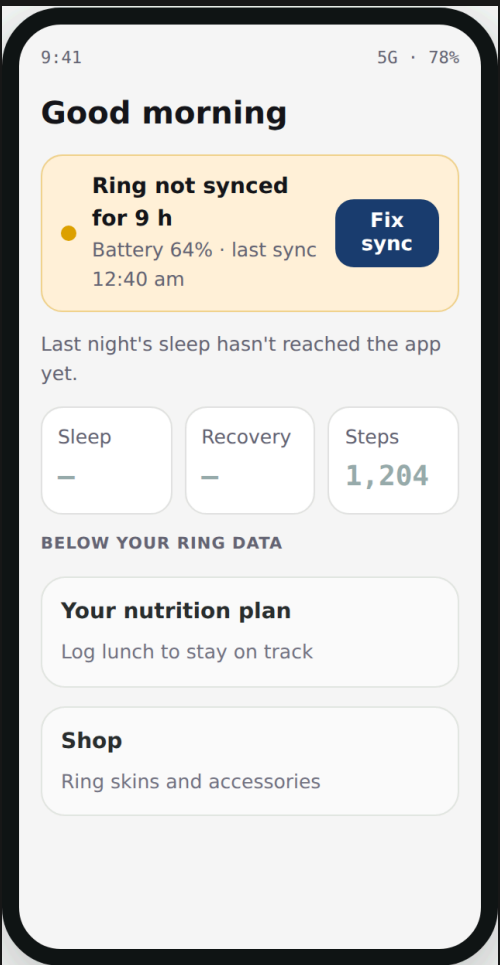

★★☆☆☆ Gabit user · 2024-12-26

Why this matters

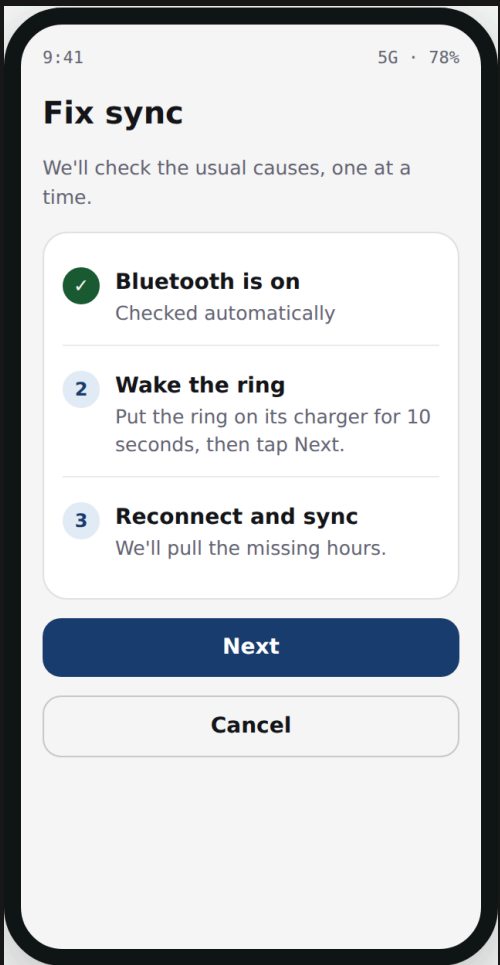

A ring has no screen, so the app is where owners see its value. In July and August, sync became the top complaint within weeks, and it showed up publicly as 1★ reviews. Whether or not it's resolved now, the next issue will cost less if the app and the team spot it before owners write reviews.

Spot the next sync issue before it reaches the reviews

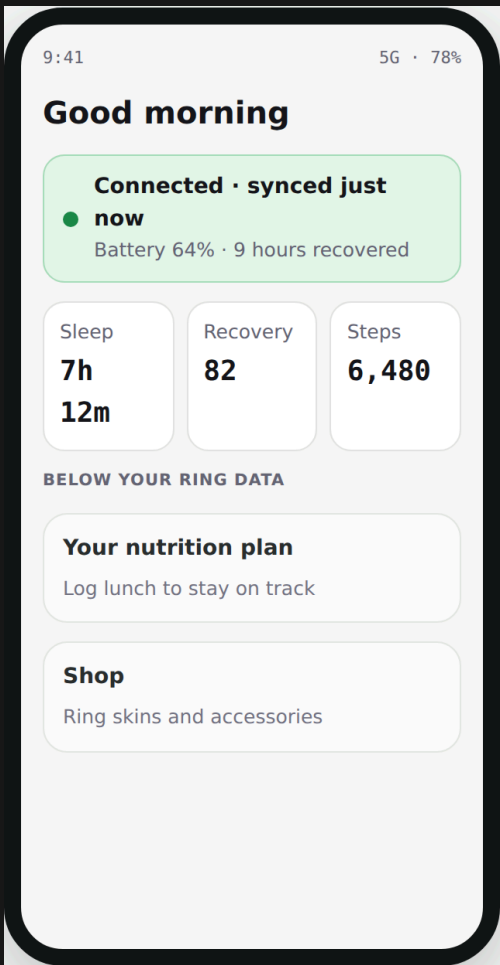

- 1 A status strip on home: "Connected · synced 2 min ago · 64% · charging". Owners have asked to see charging status.
- 2 A guided fix when sync fails: the app runs its own checks and asks for one step: wake the ring on its charger.
- 3 Diagnostics for support and the team: support gets phone, app and firmware details; the team sees sync success by release, with an alert when it drops.
- 4 Ring data first: build on the home-tab ring shortcut, so owners see their data before plans and shop.
