Keep Emerald, give users a way back, and change how redesigns ship

Goal: bring the v3 rating back above 3.0★ within 60 days without rolling back Emerald for everyone.

- 1 "Classic dashboard" option in Settings for 90 days, behind a remote feature flag that reuses the v2 dashboard on the same data layer. Emerald stays the default; the sunset date is shown up front.
- 2 Pin and reorder metric cards in Emerald, so the numbers a user checks every morning stay at the top.
- 3 Staged rollout for future UI changes: 5% → 25% → 100%, with an automatic pause if the in-app rating score, dashboard opens per day or uninstalls move.
- 4 "What moved where" on first open after a major update, plus a feedback button on new screens that records the app version.

How I'd know it worked Average Play Store rating on v3, weekly: back at or above 3.0★ within 60 days.
